

City of Madisonville to postpone 2020 outdoor concert season amidst health & safety concerns related to COVID-19. All artists rescheduled for 2021 season.

For Release May 8, 2020, 10:45am CDT

May 8, 2020

[Madisonville, KY] - With public health and safety top of mind, the City of Madisonville, Kentucky has postponed their planned 2020 Summer Outdoor Concert Series. All bands & artist have been rescheduled for 2021.

Mayor Kevin Cotton said, "This decision was certainly not made lightly. Based on information from the City, County, and State and Local Health Officials, mass gatherings even in June, July and August could jeopardize the health of our guests. We are excited about the increased popularity of these events over the past several years, but due to the number of those attending, we feel it safest to postpone at this time."

City of Madisonville's Public Relations Director, Sara Lutz added, "We were extremely excited about the artist lineup that we had for this year's series. We are so thankful that each of those artists has agreed to join us for the 2021 season. Save the dates."

The 2021 FREE Summer Concert Series lineup includes:

>Friday Night Live, Downtown Madisonville - June 11, 2021 - CRAIG MORGAN

>4th Fest, City Park, City Park - July 2, 2021 - BRET MICHAELS

>Praise in the Park, City Park - July 3, 2021 - ZACH WILLIAMS

>Friday Night Live, Downtown Madisonville - August 6, 2021 - EN VOGUE

Mayor Cotton added, "We are so appreciative of the support from our community partners for each of these events. They have been wonderful to work with and very supportive of this decision. We are looking forward to seeing everyone at this excellent 2021 concert series!"

MadisonvilleLiving.com

#####

Media Contact Information:

Sara Lutz
Public Relations Director
270.824.2101
saralutz@madisonville.gov